Tender Details

The WDVCAP was established in 1996. WDVCSs provide information, referrals, safety planning and court advocacy to women experiencing domestic and family violence and their children. There are 27 WDVCSs across the state, covering all NSW Police Force Commands and Districts, and all NSW Local Courts.

WDVCSs host a key component of the NSW Government's Safer Pathway program. Safer Pathway aims to ensure that all domestic and family violence victims receive a consistent, effective and timely response, regardless of where they live, and that victims at serious threat of injury or death receive a priority, integrated response.

As part of Safer Pathway, WDVCSs provide women victims with threat assessment, safety planning, case coordination and referral to a Safety Action Meeting (SAM) if necessary; and provide secretariat support for SAMs. SAMs are an integrated, cross-agency response to victims at serious threat of injury or death due to domestic and family violence.
