Overview

New Zealand Police is seeking to purchase oral fluid testing devices able to be used to test drivers to detect the presence of drugs.

OFT is new capability to be implemented within NZ Police following the New Zealand Government enacting the Land Transport (Drug Driving) Amendment Act 2022.

Police is required to be deploy operational capability from March 2023 and are targeting to use approximately 36,000 tests in the subsequent 12 months through to March 2024.

An initial contract term of two years will be offered to a successful Respondent, to encompass implementation and the initial 12-month operational period.

Response will involve completion of written Response Forms and provision of equipment to allow for 30 sample tests to be administered in simulated operational scenarios.

Written responses will be required to be received by email by 1700 hrs, 25th April, 2022. (NZ time)

Samples will be required to be received in Wellington by 1500 hrs 10 May 2022.

Request for Proposal document including Response Forms can be provided on request to tenders.national@police.govt.nz
