All works for which price Escalation / Variation is contemplated must have milestones fixed in physical terms and have a pre-fixed time-line for use of inputs clearly indicating the nature and quantum of eligible inputs to be used for the work for the relevant period between two milestones. Price Escalation / Variation will be applicable for those quantities 'actually' used by the contractor including additional quantities, if any, used or achieved ahead of the time-line. However, if the contractor does a certain quantity of the work in the third quarter which ought to have been done in the earlier quarter, Price Variation / Escalation will still be applicable on that quantity at the rates as applicable in the relevant quarter as per time-line or period of actual use whichever is less.

The Price adjustment mechanism will cease to operate for value of work executed beyond the agreement period. But agreement period shall include the "actual period" for which the work was "suspended officially" and extension of time permitted for any valid reasons such as, war, natural calamities, like flood, earthquake and other risks arising out of acts of God during the agreement; work delayed due to the land acquisition process; change in design, change in scope of work, etc., which is given in writing by the Tender Calling Officer of the respective work.

Price Variation will be calculated as per the specified formula from the last date of submission of tender upto the end of agreement period provided, If the agreement is signed within the minimum specified time, failing which, the price variation will be applicable from the date of agreement only, based on the wholesale Price indexes of RBI. The quarter would be reckoned with reference to the quarter of the calendar year in which the last date on tender submission is fixed. In case of delayed agreement, the quarter in which the agreement is signed will be reckoned for the purpose of calculation of Price adjustments.
