Title

Study on the Working Conditions of Farm Employees in the EU Agriculture Sector

Description

Poor working and living conditions of seasonal and migrant workers was identified in 2020 as a matter that required further information and therefore a study was requested and introduced in the 2021-2025 plan. In the meantime, the political agreement on the CAP 2023-2027 has included a system of social conditionality, along with an undertaking, via a so-called 'rendez-vous clause', to carry out a study to monitor the impact of the new social conditionality mechanism after the first two years of its application by all Member States (i.e. in 2027), and to assess if the mechanism has had a positive impact on workers' conditions, with a view to including other relevant provisions in the same mechanism.
