Description

The European Commission Representation in Ireland is committed to build the capacity of student journalists to engage with the EU and write about its policies. The European Commission Representation in Ireland is seeking tenders from potential contractors to run an annual campaign over three years (autumn 2022 to spring 2025) to support and encourage student journalists to learn and write about the EU, which would consist of the following elements: - organise a free workshop in autumn for student journalists to learn about the EU institutions, topical policies and how to research and write a story about an EU topic. - liaise with the National Student Media Awards or SMEDIAS to run and promote a competition category in the field of EU Affairs sponsored by the European Commission - establish a judging panel to select the best article on EU affairs - procure a prize cheque for €1,000 for the winning student journalist
